Our kitchen team create great tasting food that utilises the best of local produce and ingredients with excellent provenance. It's about dishes that reflect our stunning rural location using both classical and contemporary cooking techniques with an eye for detail.

Head Chef: Dave Hunter

Our Suppliers

Durham is a very rural county and Teesdale is predominantly an agricultural area.

This means we are spoilt with excellent local produce and suppliers on our doorstep and we take full advantage of this. For the customer it means fresher ingredients, less miles travelled, traceability and supporting the rural economy.

We do not choose our suppliers and the ingredients we use on price alone. It is important that the quality is right and the processes of production, something that is often referred to as provenance. High standards of animal welfare in agriculture is something that we take very seriously, and this influences what we offer and where we buy from.
